4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 51,462 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 46,197)
US Professional Development. In 2024 we hosted an open Teacher Trip to Santiago Atitlan, Guatemala, with nine educators who, between them, teach 510 students during the school year from around the US who were immersed in rural, Indigenous culture at a local school to support them to build their global context and increase their worldview of the classroom. We continued our partnership with the Wisconsin Math Council, aiming for bi-annual trips, the next one in 2025, with a visit from our team to the Wisconsin Math Council annual conference to present our work to their community and plan the program for the following year. We worked extensively with faculty from the University of Maryland's Education Department to plan and develop a joint study abroad program to the Galapagos Islands, which will be delivered in 2025.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 65,370 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)
International Professional Development. In 2024, our programs continued to evolve, and we offered in-person, virtual, and hybrid programs for greater access and reach. We ran a total of 15 programs, working directly with 1170 K-12 international teachers and 754 students and indirectly reaching over 19,930 students. Our flagship programs - MathMobile and Girls STEM Club - grew to three new locations (Solola (Guatemala), Amazonia, and Azogues (Ecuador) and allowed us to continue deepening the professional development work we do with teachers and advance in our theory of change and program model to progress teachers from "Learn" to "Apply." Additionally, our bi-annual virtual program, Math Marathon, continues to grow its audience and reach more teachers and, in 2024, saw its first hybrid iteration in partnership with the National University for Education in Ecuador [Universidad Nacional de Educación (UNAE)].

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 145,584 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)
Community Outreach. Our international and national community outreach efforts connected with teachers across the globe through our bilingual Global Math Stories (GMS) website and by participating in conferences in the US and Australia. We presented our unique educational content at two conferences with a reach of over 3,000 educators. Our celebration of International Math Day continues to grow as an opportunity to highlight real-world math both within our programs and the community, reaching almost 60 teachers. It is becoming a cornerstone event in our annual outreach calendar, focused on sharing free resources such as an extended Global Math Story for teachers and students

Facts And Circumstances Test ExplanationsFacts And Circumstances Test

In 2023, for the first time, Mathkind Global (Mathkind) fell slightly short of the one-third public support test, achieving a rate of just under 30 percent due to a challenging year generally in the philanthropy sector and Mathkind being adversely affected by broad trends in diminished giving. In 2024, we increased our percentage to 31.407 percent, which, while still below the expected one-third, demonstrates our efforts to ensure we once again meet the one third public support test. In 2024, to improve our percentage, we continued moving forward with our robust fundraising strategy that included a range of grant and foundation applications, a monthly giving program, and annual fundraising campaigns. The latter included a Pi Day match giving effort ($5,640 raised) and targeted Giving Tuesday communications. Also, our annual Fall Function gala, which began in 2022, raised $66,195 in 2024 (a 53 percent increase from 2023), towards our programs. We received gifts in 2024 from almost 40 new organizational and individual funders and aim to push for larger support from these sources in 2025. We will also continue to seek new donors through a communications plan that leverages our social media and email reach of 20,000+ individuals. Mathkind worked diligently with our Board of Trustees to add to the range of our fundraising initiatives, establishing working committees, including one focused solely on resource development. We saw 100 percent of our Board members make donations in 2024, which was a continuation from the previous year. We continue to provide a range of professional development opportunities to educators and learners, including our virtual courses on Participate (<https://www.participate.com/>) and through our own website (<https://mathkind.org/global-math-stories/>). In 2024, we expanded our Global Math Stories collection with five new narratives, bringing the total to 92 engaging, real-world math explorations. To increase accessibility and reach, we also continued providing custom Spanish translations, ensuring inclusive access for our growing Spanish-speaking audience. These resources are available at no cost to teachers globally and to the general public. They also provide additional resources for our more tailored programs, which focus on select communities and partners. Throughout 2024, we also continued to put into place our five-year strategic plan (2023-2027). One of the key strategic objectives is the diversification of our income streams to place us in a sustainable position to continuously meet the one third public support test.
